WELCOME

You don't need more ideas. You need a system.

This kit gives you a simple, repeatable way to plan, create and publish social media content with AI — so you can stop staring at a blank screen and start showing up consistently.

Most people don't struggle with content because they lack talent. They struggle because every post starts from zero: what should I say, how should I say it, and where does it fit? AI can help with all three — but only when you give it clear direction.

That's what this toolkit is for. It combines ready-to-use prompts, proven content structures and a 30-day plan, so AI does the heavy lifting and you add what only you can: your experience, your opinions and your voice.

What this kit will help you do

- Understand where AI fits into content creation — and where it doesn't.
- Generate specific content ideas for your niche in minutes.
- Write posts, captions, hooks and short-video scripts faster.
- Follow a realistic 30-day plan without needing a strategy degree.
- Turn one idea into several pieces of content for different platforms.
- Publish consistently, review what works and keep improving.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Read this guide once (about 30 minutes). Then keep the prompts, hooks and calendar open while you work. You don't need to use everything — pick what fits and come back for the rest.

AI gives you a first draft.
You make it worth reading.

INSIDE THE KIT

What you will get

Ten files that work together. The guide explains the system; the other files give you the tools to run it every day.

FILE 01

Quick Start Guide

The system behind everything: workflow, prompting, pillars, hooks and your action plan.

FILE 02

100 AI Prompts

Copy-ready prompts for ideas, posts, Reels, TikTok, LinkedIn, captions, stories and repurposing.

FILE 03

100 Content Ideas

Adaptable ideas across 8 categories, each with a format and a suggested CTA.

FILE 04

50 Powerful Hooks

Fill-in-the-blank opening lines in 8 styles, each with a worked example.

FILE 05

30-Day Content Calendar

A balanced month of content, with links to the exact prompt, idea or template to use.

FILE 06

Social Media Templates

15 slide-by-slide templates you can recreate in Canva in minutes.

FILE 07

Publishing Checklist

Before- and after-publishing checks, plus a weekly review routine.

Bonus • 50 CTAs

Natural calls to action for comments, saves, shares, follows, leads and sales.

FILE 09

Bonus • 30 AI Image Prompts

Detailed prompts for on-brand visuals across 10 visual categories.

FILE 10

Bonus • Content Repurposing System

Turn one core idea into 16 pieces of content, step by step.

Start with: this guide → the 30-day calendar (File 05) → the prompts it links to (File 02). Everything else is there when you need it.

THE WORKFLOW

How AI fits into content creation

AI is a powerful assistant in the middle of the process. You still own the beginning (the idea) and the end (the edit, the publishing and the learning).

IDEA

Decide what this piece of content is about and who it's for. One idea, one audience, one point. Use File 03 when you're stuck.

02

PROMPT

Turn the idea into clear instructions for AI: role, context, audience, goal, format and tone. File 02 gives you 100 ready-made prompts.

03

AI GENERATION

Let AI produce options — several hooks, an outline, a script or a draft caption. Ask for more than you need and pick the best.

04

EDIT

Make it yours. Check facts, add your experience, cut generic lines and adjust the tone until it sounds like you.

05

DESIGN

Create the visual: carousel slides, a Reel, a photo or a graphic. File 06 and File 09 help here.

06

PUBLISH

Post at a time that fits your routine, with a clear caption and one call to action. Use File 07 before you hit publish.

07

ANALYZE

After a few days, look at what people saved, shared and commented on. Do more of what works.

NOTICE

The highlighted steps are where AI helps most. The rest is where your judgment makes the difference between content that's generic and content that's worth following.

THE SYSTEM

The 5-step content system

Every piece of content in this kit follows the same five steps. Once they become a habit, creating content stops feeling like a guessing game.

Step 1

Define your audience

Be specific about who you're talking to and what they're struggling with.

Example: Not "people who want to get fit" but "busy parents who want 20-minute home workouts".

Step 2

Choose your content pillar

Pick which kind of value this post delivers: education, inspiration, personal story, engagement or promotion.

Example: This week: two educational posts, one personal story, one engagement post, one soft promotion.

Step 3

Generate ideas

Use AI to brainstorm many ideas, then keep the most specific and useful ones.

Example: Prompt 001 gives you 20 ideas in one go. Keep the 5 you'd genuinely want to read.

Step 4

Create the content

Write with AI, edit with your voice and design with a template.

Example: Prompt 021 drafts a 7-slide carousel; Template 05 in File 06 shows how to lay it out.

Step 5

Publish and improve

Post consistently, review what worked each week and adjust.

Example: Your myth-busting carousel got twice the saves? Plan another one next week.

PROMPTING

How to write better AI prompts

AI isn't a mind reader. The quality of what you get back depends almost entirely on the quality of what you put in. Seven elements make the difference.

01

Context

What's the situation? Your business, your niche, what you've already tried.

02

Role

Who should AI act as? A strategist, a copywriter, a teacher, an editor.

03

Audience

Who will read or watch this? Age, situation, level of knowledge.

04

Objective

What should the content achieve? Saves, comments, clicks, trust.

05

Format

What exactly do you want back? 7 slides, a 30-second script, 3 caption options.

06

Tone

How should it sound? Friendly, direct, calm, playful, expert.

07

Constraints

Limits that keep it useful: word counts, things to avoid, required elements.

RULE OF THUMB

Not every time

You won't need all seven for every prompt. Role, audience and format alone already make a big difference.

× BAD PROMPT

"Give me an Instagram post."

No audience, no goal, no format. AI has to guess — so you get something generic.

✓ BETTER PROMPT

"You are a social media strategist. Create an Instagram carousel for a small coffee shop targeting students aged 18–25. The goal is to increase engagement. Use a friendly and energetic tone. Give me a 7-slide structure with a strong hook and a clear CTA."

Role, audience, goal, tone and format are all defined. The result is usable on the first try.

PROMPTING

The prompt formula

Use this formula whenever you write your own prompt. You don't need every element every time — but the more you include, the less you'll need to edit.

ELEMENT	PURPOSE	EXAMPLE
Role	Who AI should be	"You are a content strategist for wellness brands."
Context	Background AI needs	"I run a small yoga studio and post on Instagram three times a week."
Audience	Who it's for	"Office workers aged 25–40 with back pain."
Goal	What success looks like	"I want people to save the post and visit my profile."
Format	The exact output	"A 6-slide carousel with a headline and up to 20 words per slide."
Tone	How it should sound	"Calm, encouraging and practical."
Constraints	Rules and limits	"No medical claims. No jargon. End with a question."

Reusable template

COPY AND FILL IN

You are a [ROLE]. [CONTEXT]. Create [FORMAT] for [AUDIENCE]. The goal is to [GOAL]. Use a [TONE] tone. [CONSTRAINTS].

PRO TIP

Follow-up prompts matter too. If the first answer isn't right, don't start over. Reply with "Make it shorter", "Make the hook more specific", "Use simpler words" or "Give me 5 more options".

STRATEGY

Content pillars

Content pillars are the 3–6 recurring types of content your account is built on. They keep your feed balanced and make planning much easier.

PILLAR 01

Educational

Teach something useful.

How-to carousels, tutorials, tips, myth-busting, explainers.

PILLAR 02

Entertaining

Make people smile or relate.

Relatable situations, light humor, POV videos, trends adapted to your niche.

PILLAR 03

Inspirational

Encourage and motivate — with substance.

Progress stories, transformations, lessons from setbacks.

PILLAR 04

Personal

Let people know the person behind the account.

Your story, your workspace, your opinions, your bad days.

PILLAR 05

Promotional

Present your offer clearly.

Product introductions, testimonials, FAQs, launch announcements.

PILLAR 06

Community / Engagement

Start conversations and involve your audience.

Polls, questions, “this or that”, community spotlights.

SUGGESTED BALANCE

A healthy starting mix: mostly educational and personal content, a regular dose of engagement, and promotion in roughly one post out of every five. Adjust once you see what your audience responds to.

STRATEGY

Choosing your platform

You don't need to be everywhere. Start with one main platform where your audience already spends time, and add a second one once posting feels routine.

PLATFORM	FORMATS THAT FEEL NATURAL	OFTEN A GOOD FIT FOR	WHAT TENDS TO WORK
Instagram	Carousels, Reels, Stories, photo posts	Visual brands, educators, creators, local businesses	Carousels for saves; Stories for daily connection.
TikTok	Short vertical video, replies, series	Personal brands, entertainers, educators with personality	Casual, native-feeling video works better than polished ads.
LinkedIn	Text posts, document carousels, short video	B2B, freelancers, consultants, professionals	Lessons, opinions and case studies from your work.
Facebook	Posts, groups, events, short video	Local businesses, communities, older audiences	Groups and events are useful for community building.
YouTube	Long-form video, Shorts	Teachers, reviewers, in-depth creators	Searchable content that keeps being found for longer.

How to choose

- Where is your audience already? Ask a few customers or look at where people in your niche are active.
- What can you create comfortably? If you hate being on camera, start with carousels or text posts.
- How much time do you have? One platform done well beats three done badly.

A NOTE ON ALGORITHMS

Platforms change their features and recommendations often. Rather than chasing rules about "the algorithm", focus on what you can control: useful content, clear hooks, consistency and genuine conversations.

WRITING

Hooks: why the first sentence matters

Your hook is the first line of a caption, the first slide of a carousel or the first two seconds of a video. If it doesn't give people a reason to stay, the rest of the content never gets seen.

A strong hook is...

- Specific — "3 pricing mistakes freelancers make" beats "Some business tips".
- Relevant — your audience instantly knows it's for them.
- Honest — it promises something the content actually delivers.
- Short — usually under 12 words, readable in a glance.

Six hook structures to start with

TYPE	TEMPLATE
Curiosity	Nobody tells you this about [TOPIC]...
Problem	Struggling to [GOAL]? Start here.
Mistake	Stop doing [X] if you want [RESULT].
Story	I wish I knew this when I started [ACTIVITY].
List	[NUMBER] mistakes beginners make when [ACTIVITY].
Contrarian	Unpopular opinion: [COMMON ADVICE] is overrated.

HABIT TO BUILD

Write 5–10 hooks for every important post and choose the best one. Prompt 037 does this for you, and File 04 gives you 50 templates with examples.

WRITING

Calls to action

A call to action (CTA) tells people what to do next. Without one, even great content leaves readers with nowhere to go.

When to use which CTA

GOAL	BEST FOR	EXAMPLE
Comments	Start a conversation	"What would you add to this list?"
Saves	Useful reference content	"Save this for your next planning session."
Shares	Content that helps others	"Send this to someone who's just starting."
Follows	Series and ongoing value	"This is part 1 — follow for part 2."
Clicks	Products, guides, sign-ups	"The full checklist is free — link in bio."

Three rules for natural CTAs

- One CTA per post. Asking people to like, comment, share, save and click all at once means they'll do none of them.
- Match the CTA to the content. A checklist asks for a save; an opinion asks for a comment; a tutorial invites people to try it.
- Make it easy. "What's your biggest challenge with pricing?" is easier to answer than "Thoughts?".

MORE CTAS

File 08 contains 50 ready-to-use CTAs, organized by goal.

QUALITY

AI + human editing

AI-generated content is a starting point, not a finished product. A few minutes of editing turns a generic draft into something that sounds like you and earns trust.

CHECK 01

Fact-check

AI can state wrong information confidently. Verify numbers, claims, dates and anything health-, money- or law-related.

CHECK 02

Tone

Read it out loud. Would you actually say this? Replace stiff phrases with the words you naturally use.

CHECK 03

Originality

Remove clichés and filler ("In today's fast-paced world..."). If a line could appear on anyone's account, rewrite it.

CHECK 04

Personal experience

Add one real example, story, mistake or result. This is what AI can't provide — and what people remember.

CHECK 05

Brand voice

Keep your words, emoji use, sentence length and formatting consistent across posts.

CHECK 06

Grammar

Check spelling, punctuation and readability. Short sentences and line breaks make posts easier to read on a phone.

× RAW AI DRAFT

"Consistency is key to success on social media. By posting regularly, you can unlock your full potential and grow your audience."

✓ EDITED BY A HUMAN

"I posted 3 times a week for 2 months before anything changed. What finally worked wasn't posting more — it was posting the same type of carousel every Tuesday."

Be open about using AI where it matters to your audience, and follow each platform's rules on AI-generated or altered media.

EFFICIENCY

Creating content faster

The fastest creators don’t come up with more ideas. They get more out of each idea. One well-researched topic can fill a week of content across formats.

Example: “3 pricing mistakes new freelancers make”

FORMAT	HOW THE IDEA IS ADAPTED	USE
Reel	Talk through the 3 mistakes in 30 seconds, one per cut.	Prompt 040
Carousel	One mistake per slide, each with its fix.	Prompt 022
Story	Poll: “Which mistake have you made?” Reveal the fixes the next day.	Prompt 034
LinkedIn post	The story of when you made mistake #2 and what it cost.	Prompt 061
Short video	Reply to a comment asking about mistake #3.	Prompt 052
Newsletter	All three mistakes, with a deeper fix and a resource.	Prompt 096

THE RULE

Adapt, don’t copy-paste. Each format has its own rhythm: a Reel is spoken, a carousel is visual, a LinkedIn post is reflective. AI is excellent at this kind of rewriting — see the repurposing prompts (091–100) and File 10.

YOUR PLAN

The 30-day system

File 05 gives you a complete month of content. Each day tells you what to post, in which format, why, and which prompt or template to use.

How the month is structured

WEEK	FOCUS	WHAT YOU'LL POST
Week 1	Introduce yourself	Who you are, beginner-friendly education, your first Stories poll.
Week 2	Build trust	Tutorials, behind the scenes, answering real questions.
Week 3	Show your expertise	Frameworks, opinions, a transformation and your first soft promotion.
Week 4	Convert and connect	Proof, an FAQ about your offer, a checklist and a quiz.
Days 29–30	Repurpose and reflect	Remake your best post and share what you learned.

How to use it

- Fill in the “Set up your month” page first. Your niche, audience and offer make every prompt sharper.
- Batch your work. Create 3–4 posts in one session instead of starting from scratch every day.
- Swap freely. If a day doesn't fit your business, replace it with an idea from the same pillar in File 03.
- Missed a day? Don't try to catch up. Skip it and continue with the next one.
- Days 7, 14, 21 and 28 are lighter on purpose. Use them to review, reply and rest.

REALISTIC EXPECTATIONS

You don't need to post every single day to benefit from this calendar. Posting 3–4 times a week and following the order still gives you a balanced, intentional month.

YOUR ROUTINE

A simple weekly workflow

Consistency comes from routine, not motivation. This rhythm separates creating, publishing and engaging, so each task gets your full attention.

Monday	CREATE Batch-create the posts for Tuesday to Thursday. Generate drafts with AI, edit them and design the visuals.
Tuesday	PUBLISH Finalize and schedule or post. Reply to comments in the first hours after posting.
Wednesday	ENGAGE Spend 20–30 minutes commenting thoughtfully on accounts in your niche and answering messages.
Thursday	CREATE Batch-create the posts for Friday to Monday. Use the prompts linked in your calendar.
Friday	PUBLISH Publish, reply and save any questions you receive — they're next week's ideas.
Weekend	ANALYZE / REPURPOSE Run the weekly review in File 07. Pick your best post and plan how to repurpose it.

HOW DAILY POSTING FITS

Your posts can still go out every day — you create them in two batches and schedule them. Most platforms and many free tools let you schedule posts in advance.

Time budget: around 2 hours per creation session, 15 minutes on publishing days and 20–30 minutes for engagement. Adjust to your life — a routine you can keep beats an ambitious one you abandon.

QUALITY

Content quality checklist

Run through these questions before you design or publish anything. If you can answer “yes” to all of them, the post is ready.

- ☐ Is it for one specific audience?
You could name the person this post is written for.

- ☐ Does it make one clear point?
If you can't summarize it in one sentence, split it into two posts.

- ☐ Does the hook earn attention honestly?
Specific, relevant and delivered on by the content.

- ☐ Is it useful, relatable or interesting?
Your audience gets something: a lesson, a laugh, a feeling or a decision.

- ☐ Have you added something only you could add?
A personal example, opinion, result or story.

- ☐ Are the facts correct?
Every number, claim and recommendation checked.

- ☐ Does it sound like you?
Read it out loud. Remove anything you wouldn't say.

- ☐ Is it easy to read on a phone?
Short sentences, line breaks, large text on visuals.

- ☐ Is there one clear call to action?
Matched to the goal of the post.

- ☐ Does it fit your pillars and your brand?
Consistent colors, fonts, tone and topics.

AVOID THESE

Mistakes to avoid

Almost every beginner makes some of these. Knowing them in advance saves you weeks of frustration.

Writing for everyone

Content aimed at everyone resonates with no one. Pick one audience and speak directly to them.

No clear audience

If you don't know who you're helping, AI won't either. Define your audience before you prompt.

Weak hooks

A great post with a vague first line rarely gets seen. Write several hooks and choose the strongest.

Too much promotion

If every post is an advert, people stop paying attention. Lead with value; promote occasionally.

No call to action

People rarely take action unless invited. End every post with one clear next step.

Copying AI output without editing

Unedited AI text sounds generic and can contain errors. Always fact-check and personalize.

Posting without a strategy

Random posts are hard to build on. Use pillars and the calendar so each post has a purpose.

Giving up too early

Most accounts grow slowly at first. Judge your progress over months, not days.

START NOW

Your final action plan

Reading about content doesn't create content. Here's exactly what to do over the next few days.

Today

Choose your niche

Write one sentence: "I help [TARGET AUDIENCE] with [RESULT]." Complete the "Set up your month" page in File 05.

Tomorrow

Create your first 3 ideas

Run Prompt 001 with your niche and audience. Choose the three ideas you'd most like to read yourself.

Day 3

Create your first post

Pick one idea, use the matching template from File 06, write the hook with File 04, edit, and publish.

Day 4+

Follow the 30-day calendar

One day at a time. Review every weekend with the checklist in File 07.

ONE LAST THING

Your first posts won't be perfect, and they don't need to be. Every post you publish teaches you something the next one can use. Start small, stay consistent and let the system do the heavy lifting.

Thank you for choosing the AI Content Creator Starter Kit. Now go create something.
